Bis announces new appointment to executive leadership team

Global resource logistics provider Bis has welcomed Scott Beckwith to its leadership team. Scott is a senior executive with deep industry experience gained working for leading international organisations in Australia and the Asia Pacific region.

Bis has appointed Scott into the newly created role of Director of Operational Services and Sustainability with responsibility for Zero Harm, assets, procurement, IT, engineering. The role will be focused on supporting Bis operations to deliver safe, reliable, innovative and cost effective solutions for customers, every day. Scott will report directly to Bis CEO Brad Rogers as a member of the company's executive leadership team.

Prior to joining Bis, Scott held senior executive positions with global mining services firm Boart Longyear, Toll, Thiess and Orica.

Bis CEO Brad Rogers said he was pleased to welcome Scott to team. "Scott brings a wealth of industry experience to Bis from his roles at other international companies. He's also worked in Indonesia for seven years, which is an important market for us," he said.

Scott Beckwith said it was an exciting time to join Bis. "The building blocks are in place for an exciting future – successful capital restructure, blue chip client base, genuine commitment to zero harm, new contract wins and a market on the upturn," he said.

"Bis has a strong reputation and I'm looking forward to working with my executive colleagues and the broader business to help capture the opportunities ahead."
